The referee was Eugene L. Richards, of Yale, 1885. The New York Athletics were a rusher short.

The game was started with the ball in the New York's possession. After some scrimmaging Beecher passed the bell to Terry, who made a touch-down on which he kicked goal.

It was decided to play half-hour "halves."
Terry made two more touch-downs and Edwards one more for the Crescents in the first half, which Terry's accurate kicking transformed into goals. The New York Athletics were also forced to make a safety, making the score 36 to nothing in favor of the Crescents in the first half.

In the second half Edwards made a touchdown from which Terry kicked another goal.

Then Terry made another touchdown, but he missed making the goal by a fraction. He made a fruitless try for goal from the field.

John Lamarche, one of the Crescent men, was put in to play half-back for the New York Athletics.

The game was then called, score 36 to 0.

Lineman Feeks's Sacrifice Starts a Mighty Electric Wire Crusade.

Mayor Grant and the Electrical Board Order the Wires Down To-Day.

Meanwhile the Companies Get an Injunction from Judge Andrews.

Coroner Schultze Makes the Autopsy on the Dead Lineman.

Mayor Grant Says He May Take the Case to the Grand Jury Himself.

Companies Ordered to Shut Off All Electric Currents This Afternoon.

Mayor Grant, the members of the Board of Electrical Control, the Coroners, the officials of the District-Attorney's office were all found fully aroused to-day by the horrible death of Lineman Feeks and to the lesson which it teaches as to the peril impending over the city by the overhead electric wires.

On all hands it was said that this latest tracedy would have the effect of starting a final nd successful crusade against the deadly wires. Intense indignation was felt throughout the city over the occurrence, all the more because at this very time the electric lighting companies are defying Mayor Grant in his efforts to secure reater safety for the public, and are running miles and miles of improperly insulated wire every night, in direct disobedience to the orders which he has issued.

The companies deny this morning that it was an electric-light wire which caused Feeks's terrible death yesterday, but there is only one opinion among experts, and that is that the powerful current which was transmitted to the telegraph wires on which the unfortunate lineman was at work came from an electric-lighting

It may not have passed directly from either of the two lighting wires on the pole on which Feeks was at work, and probably did not, but was produced by contact with a telegraphic wire at some distance away.

It is stated this morning by the police that some of the electric light linemen who were out at work last night discovered the point of contact, but no report was made by the companies.

MAYOR GRANT STIRRED. Mayor Grant was very deeply stirred this morning by the accident. SPECIAL MEETING CALLED.

As soon as he reached his office at the City Hall, he immediately sent word to the Subway Commissioners, and Electrical Expert S. S. Wheeler, that he would like to have a meeting with them immediately. THE MAYOR TALKS.

"If I have any conception of the facts in this case, it is self-evident that there were some wires on those poles which were not properly insulated. So far as my own opinion is concerned I don't believe there is any such a thing as perfect insulation; and that is the reason why I want to get all the wires away from overhead, where they are a continual menace to citizens, as soon as possible." COMPANIES MAY BE INDICTED.

"In this case there has been such an example of negligence to say nothing of the violation of the orders issued by the Board of Electrical Control, that I think the officers of those companies could be indicted for man, slaughter.

WILL GO TO THE GRAND JURY. "I certainly propose to investigate the matter thoroughly, and if my present opinion in the case is confirmed I shall undoubtedly bring the question before the Grand Jury myself."

At 11.30 Commissioners Gibbens, Moss and Heas came to the Mayor's office with Expert Wheeler.

EXPERT WHEELER'S REPORT.

EXPERT WHEELER'S REPORT.

A meeting was immediately called, and Mayor Grant stated that he had a report from Mr. Wheeler, which was read, as follows:

To the Mayor of the City of New Fork:
With relation to the notice served by the Board of Electrical Control on the Electric Light companies of Electrical Control on the Electric Light companies of this city. I have to report as follows:

As I stated at the meeting held yesterday I am not able, without a inver force at my disposal, to say which wires used for electric lighting purposes in the city are in proper condition.

On the other hand I am able to give the information that, notwithstanding the notice of the Hoard, two electric companies have operated since the recept of that notice wires known to me to be imperfectly insulated.

These are the Brush and United States companies, whose stations are: Brush, No. 20 Elizabeth street, and United States, No. 20 Fulton street, and Stanton street, and 410 East I was 17-ninth street.

The inclosed memorand, shows that certain wires specified therein are importantly insulated and constray to the rules and regulations of the Barton wires of these and colley with regard to other, wires of these and other commanies whether Board.

I was unable to state definitely with regard to other wires of these and other companies whether such as are improperly insulated have been operated or not, not having had time to make an inspection.

SCHUYLES S. WHEELER, Electrical Expert. THE MAYOR WAS PROMPT. "I shall now make an order," said Mayor terant, "upon this report that all wires operated by electric light companies that are reported to be improperly insulated shall be immediately cut, and shall ask the Board to pass a resolution to that effect."

UNANIMOUSLY INDORSED. "The Board will unanimously approve such a resolution," said Commissioner Moss, and it was thereupon voted. "CUT DOWN THE WIRES." Commissioner of Public Works Gilroy, who was present, was asked by Mayor Grant if he could proceed at once to cut those wires which Expert Wheeler had reported to be improperly insulated. THIS VERY APTERNOON.

He replied that he could, and Mayor Grant gave him a verbal order to go ahead this after-neon, adding that the Board would pass the resolution authorizing him to commence at once,
"How shall I ascertain what wires to cut?"
asked Commissioner Gilroy.
"Mr. Wheeler will go immediately to your office with you and will there inform you what wires he has examined and found unsafe.
"This order," added the Mayor, "is, you understand, not to apply to any particular companies, but to all alike, and without any favoritism."

At Mr. Wheeler's suggestion an additional order was directed to be issued to the companies directing them to turn off all the currents in their wires which were found not properly insulated, in order that there should be no danger to the workmen engaged in taking them down.

FURTHER ACTION ON MONDAY. FURTHER ACTION ON MONDAY.

Before the meeting adjourned the Mayor asked and obtained from the Board a resolution requesting the engineer of the Board to prepare plans for a comprehensive system of subways of an extent covering as much of the city as possible, which should be presented to the Board at its mext meeting, which will be held there on Monday next.

The meeting then adjourned and Commissioner Gilroy started over to his office to carry out as soon as possible the orders of the Mayor.

THEN CAME THE NUNCCION.

THEN CAME THE INJUNCTION.

THEN CAME THE INJUNCTION.

He only got as far as the rear cutrance of the City Hall when he was met by Lawyer Treadwell, of the firm of Evarts, Choate & Beaman, who had two injunctions in his hand, which he had just secured from Judge Andrews, of the Supreme Court, in behalf of the Brush and United States Electric Light companies. SERVED ON GILBOY. He served them on Commissioner Gilroy on the spot, and the latter turned around and went back to the Mayor's office, where the lawyer also gave notice to Mayor Grant of the injunc-tions.

also gave notice so mayor visual tions.

They were very comprehensive, and restrained the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and the Board of Electrical Control from interfering in any way with the wires of the two companies until next Monday, when the injunctions are returnable before Judge Andrews in the Supreme Court, Chambers.

MAYOR GRANT ANNOYED. MAYOR GRANT ANNOYED.

The Mayor looked annoyed, and turned the papers over to Corporation Counsel Clark, who was present, and who, after examining them, said that it would be well to observe them.

"Then can't we cut any wires this afternoon?" asked the Mayor.

"Not any belonging to these two companies, If Expert Wheeler can find any wires improperly insulated belonging to other companies this afternoon you can go on and take them down."

fown."

Expert Wheeler thought he could do so, and after a brief consultation with the Mayor, he and Commissioner Gilroy went out together. ORDERS TO THE COMPANIES.

At 1 o'clock notice was sent out from the Department of Public Works to all the electric light companies in the city ordering them to shut off the current on all their wires.

The notice was sent to the Brush and United States companies as well as to the others which have not yet procured injunctions against the Board of Electrical Control.

Commissioner Gilroy insists that if he can find any unsafe wires this afternoon he will pull them down, unless they belong to the companies which have enjoined him.

THE LINEMAN'S WIFE VERY LOW.

Men at Work To-Day Taking Down Wires from That Fatal Pole. The scene had changed this morning.

Out of the death-dealing wires, the charred corpse of the Western Union lineman, John Feeks, had been removed to John W. Lyon & Son's undertaker's shop at 69 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. There it lay bared on a stretcher this forenoon awaiting the autopsy to be performed by Coroner Schultze and his assistants.

The picture was nearly as striking as that of esterday, when the unfortunate man hung in hid-air at Chambers and Centre streets, while the fearful electric fire revelled about his body. Doctors, reporters and fellow workmen surunded his birr to-day, and noted where the deadly wires had burned through the right side of the face, until both upper and lower teeth were fully exposed.

Mr. Lyon, taking the left shoe of the dead man in his hands, showed how the deadly circuit had been completed. In low tones he exained:
"When Feeks grasped the live wire one of the nails in this shoe happened to rest on a wire and the current flew through his body. Then his chesk and neek fell across two other wires and he was burned as you see." BONE AND ARTERIES CUT TEROUGH. Just beneath the Adam's apple in the dead man's throat the electricity had cut its way through flesh and bone and arteries, making a gaping cavity that looked as if it had been cut out, as a watermelon might be sliced.

The horror of the sight cannot be painted in words.

AT THE DEAD MAN'S HOME. Four blocks away, in a cosy little cottage at as East One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, the wife of the dead man lay in bed, expecting the coming of the babe that will never know its rather.

She knows her husband is dead. The sad news could not be kept from her. He was so regular in his habits, always home by 7 clock in the evening, hurrying to kiss his wife and children. She would have missed him and

BEATING M'LAUGHLIN ON FIRENZÉ

Many Ladies Among the Largest Crowd of the Season.

JEROME PARK RACE TRACK, Oct. 12.—The attendance here to-day is by long odds the best of the meeting, and it will help materially to swell the gate receipts of the Club. Many of the crowd are ladies, and the portion of the stand assigned them presents a pretty picture, their bright Fall costumes adding greatly to the

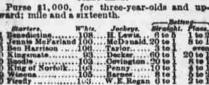

In the betting rings things were lively, the bookmakers finding their hands full in supplybookmakers finding their hands full in supplying the wants of the plunging public.

The Grand National Handicap brought about a great finish between Garrison and McLaughlin, with the usual result when these two meet, a victory for the Snapper, who landed Raceland a winner by half a length in 2.39, which is very fast for the track.

What at first looked like a shower became a deluge and a track which had been fast was a perfect sea of soft sloopy mud.

The sky became so dark that to see in the betting ring was an impossibility, and the bookmakers clerks were compelled to use bits of candle and burning paper to see to work.
